

"Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed people can change the world. Indeed, it is the only thing that ever has." ~ Margaret Mead

Social Impact for Students: How to change the world through Social Enterprise

May 14, 5:30-7 pm, 390 Paccar Hall

What inspires and motivates social entrepreneurs? How do they develop their ideas into a sustainable solution? How can students leverage their resources to make global impact?

Join us for a panel and small group discussion with four local organizations that are focused on social innovation: an approach that harnesses new strategies, concepts, and organizations that meet social needs of all kinds - from working conditions and education to community development and health - and that extend and strengthen civil society. Speakers will discuss the experiences that motivate them to make a collective impact in a society locally and globally. This is also an opportunity to NETWORK and learn opportunities that will further these connections.

Speakers:

Steve Schwartz - Upaya

Lindsey Engh - HUB Seattle

Mark Horoszowski- MovingWorlds

Cole Hoover – Global Brigades Institutes

Who should come?

- Students from ANY major with an interest in social innovation
- Anyone seeking to contribute their learned skills to a social cause
- Anyone who is curious about how Seattle-based entrepreneurs work effectively in their communities or around the world.

Please RSVP, as refreshments will be provided: <https://www.facebook.com/events/195951293885904/>

Hosted by the UW Global Social Entrepreneurship Competition and Social Entrepreneurship Club
