

Sustainable clean-water solutions to underserved populations, while ensuring water remains a local, public resource.

Volunteer Video- YouTube developer

Job Description

Water for Humans is seeking a You tube video developer who can help us assemble narrated slide shows and short voiceover videos. This position will report to the Executive director and other staff members.

Water for Humans staff are not co-located (we all work out of our homes). Thus, the candidate must be able to work independently and be very comfortable working remotely via phone and the internet. Furthermore, we are most interested in candidates who would like to join us as a partner in this venture and make a long-term commitment to our mission in Latin America and beyond.

This position is a great opportunity for someone looking to fill out his/her professional portfolio and gain important references.

Water for Humans operates in a team oriented work environment and individuals are expected to demonstrate leadership qualities, perform with high standards of integrity, demonstrate maturity, listen actively, value self understanding, exhibit deep commitment, use good humor and communicate effectively.

Required Skills

- Basic video editing
- Storytelling via video using slideshows and voice overs
- The ability to develop voiceover scripts from written documentation.
- Communication and documentation skills will be highly important in communicating with other technical / non-technical staff across continents

Desired Skills

- Fluency in English and Spanish

Water for Humans is a nonprofit social venture enterprise working to bring sanitation and clean water to communities in need through partnerships with local communities, non-governmental organizations (NGOs), social entrepreneurs, universities and governments. These partnerships ensure clean drinking water, create local jobs and protect local water assets.
